

Weekly Newsletter 22nd November 2018

Dear Parents,

We all enjoyed STEM science day on Monday. The children were given the task of making a cup which would keep Mrs Bushell's water cold for as long as possible. To explore this idea they first examined a range of different materials for possible use and then constructed the insulation for their plastic cup. Finally, they were given some cold water, thermometers and a stopwatch and recorded how quickly the temperature of the water increased. There were many highly effective ideas generated by this, and there are some pictures of some of them being made below.

On Tuesday, Eagle Owls had their final visit from Posy Walton from Norwich School in preparation for their big performance next week at the Norwich Cathedral. This is always a very special event with spectacular acoustics and I hope many of you will be able to attend.

On Wednesday, we enjoyed a 'taster' visit from a karate teacher. The children seemed to enjoy this a great deal. The children were sent home with a leaflet on how they can get involved in the future.

Our various lunchtime monitors have now all received training and have started their new job roles. This is designed to further develop their sense of responsibility and citizenship, and help the school to run smoothly.

The Christmas events programme has now been almost entirely finalised and is included with this newsletter. We have kept all of the favourites from previous years, and brought back 'Carols around the Tree' by popular demand!

Finally, a reminder for Owlets parents that tomorrow morning Miss Church and Mrs Martins will be hosting a 'Stay and Play' event. This is a great opportunity to spend some time with your child in the classroom, and find out even more about what they are doing, whilst also taking part in an art and craft based activity.
